

Mississauga, Ontario – January, 2012

I am pleased to announce that Dr. Tom McGowan has joined Closing the Gap Health Care Group's advisory board.

Dr. Tom McGowan is the Chief of the Department of Radiation Oncology at Credit Valley Hospital.

Dr. McGowan trained as a radiation oncologist at Princess Margaret Hospital, graduated in 1991, and began working there at that point. In 1995, he graduated from the University of Toronto with an MBA, and in 1998 started to work at Cancer Care Ontario - first as coordinator of the Radiation Treatment Program, and then as Executive Vice-President. From January 2001 until August 2003 he ran CROS, a privately managed, publically funded department of Radiation Oncology. In 2004 he took on his current role as Chief of Radiation Oncology at Credit Valley Hospital. In addition to that, from 2003 to 2007 he was the clinical lead on a provincial wide information systems project designed to collect, in real time, staging, and pathology information on all newly diagnosed cancer patients in Ontario. He remains a clinical advisor to that project.

Dr. McGowan previously served as a founding advisory board member at Closing the Gap Healthcare Group. "We look forward to welcoming Dr. McGowan back as a valued member of our expert advisory board," says Connie Clerici, President and CEO of Closing the Gap Healthcare Group. "I am very honored that Dr. McGowan has selected our organization as a venue to share his vast knowledge and expertise. His successes include but are not limited to the designing and implementation of operational efficiencies that improve the client experience."
